Monday:

Noon (Rm 241) History or Hate: Discussion on the Removal of Confederate Monuments

In the South, monuments to Confederate leaders occupy places of honor in government buildings, courthouses, and national parks. A recent rise in white supremacy activity has prompted many to call for the removal of Confederate monuments. To modern audiences, these monuments represent hate and racism, to others, they are merely a part of Southern history. Join our distinguished speakers as we learn about the history of these monuments, and the arguments on both sides of the issue.

5pm (Rm 241) Underrepresented and Navigating Through the Education System

PILA and FLS are teaming up to present a panel addressing the issues faced by underrepresented populations navigating the educational system. Indigence, race, immigration status, and disability effect a parent and child's ability to access the education to which they are entitled. The panelists will field questions about their particular experiences in education law, the inequities they see represented in the educational system, and how education might be representative of larger issues in the legal system.

Tuesday:

Noon (Knowles Center) Richard Rothstein: Color of Law

Registration Required https://insidelaw.gsu.edu/r-s-v-p-for-the-color-of-law-book-event/

Author Richard Rothstein will be on hand to sign and present his latest book, The Color of Law: A Forgotten History of How Our Government Segregated America, which outlines the ways in which racial segregation resulted from flawed urban planning and policy decisions that promoted discriminatory patterns still in place today.

Wednesday: Noon (Rm 342) #50StatesAgainstHate: Efforts to Establish Hate Crime Legislation in Georgia

Georgia is only one of five states in our country that does not have a Hate Crimes Law. The Anti-Defamation League’s #50StatesAgainstHate campaign has put pressure on the GA Legislature to pass and introduce a Hate Crimes Bill in Georgia. Please join us as we welcome Shelley Rose, Senior Associate Regional Director of the Anti-Defamation League, to discuss how we can help push for a Hate Crimes Law in Georgia.

5pm (Rm 341) Taking a Knee for Justice

The nation is enthralled with the current debate surrounding NFL players taking a knee in protest of police brutality. Join us as we discuss the recent actions of the NFL players, owners, and administration, and how the 1st Amendment relates to their actions.

Thursday:

Noon (Rm 341) From Law School to Public Service

Join us for a discussion with elected officials on what influenced them to run for public office and how the law has helped them in their avocation. As part of this panel discussion we will discuss their journey to public office, their time in service, and steps law students should take if they have a desire to serve in a public capacity.
